

Word of the Lord for the year 2007
Through Pastor Cheryel Tarter
Eagle's Wings Praise & Worship Center
Dec. 09, 2006

This will be a year of crucial conflicts. The war between good and evil is being heightened and intensified. That which is of the flesh will be seen to be what it is: carnal, and of no profit to the spirit man. But that which is of the Spirit will be sought out by those who are yearning and longing for realness, and for the reality of a true walk of the Spirit. Nothing less than walking in My Spirit will bring any satisfaction or profit the advancement of My Kingdom. The conflict between the flesh and the Spirit will cause those who have been riding the fence to become increasingly more uncomfortable, and many will choose the Way of the Spirit.

Conflicts will continue among the nations, and in the Middle East. As in the natural, the conflict in the Middle East is over the "oil". The conflict in the church world will also be over the "oil" of the anointing, and those who press in through the Olive Press of Gethsemane will prevail in a pure anointing that will strengthen the True Church to prevail in a time of great conflicts. The foolish virgins will come running to the wise virgins and will be looking for "oil". The "oil" will only be found in one place, in the place of sacrifice and intimacy in the Garden of Prayer.

Look for some well-known actors to be saved this year! This will be a prophetic sign to the church world that those who have been "play acting" in the church will have a time of divine grace this year to get right and get serious with God, but that grace will only be extended for a season. If they do not repent, the "play actors" will be exposed.

Stocks and bonds will not be the security of the hour. But rather, hearken My people! You will now begin to take stock in one another and bond with one another in a new realm of unity and true caring for one another in the Body of Christ, because in this hour you will need to draw strength from one another for the things that are coming. You will need the unity to defeat the wiles of the enemy. You will need humility to overcome great temptations that are coming. You will need the love to hold one another up and infuse one another with strength to overcome.

Shake, rattle, and roll! There has been a shaking in this season leading up to 2007, and now there will be a rattling of dead bones coming to life! New breath is being released upon the army of the Lord, and there is a rattling of chains as prisoners are being released. Captives are being set free this year, as those who have submitted themselves to the shaking will find dead leaves falling off, and new life spring forth into new harvests. Stones will be rolled away from graves (spiritually) and that which was dead will spring to live. Dead dreams shall live again. Dead marriages will be revived. Dead loved ones who have turned from Christ will come again to their first love. Dead churches will find revival around the altar of the Lord, as I kindle a flame where the fire had all but died. Ezekiel 37 will be a key scripture this year.

Do not give up in this hour! Many of you are drained from the warfare of the previous season you have been in. Do not give up! New life and new strength is coming in this next season.

You will reap where you have not sown, in 2007. That which has been held back from you will be released to you in this season. Wells that were stopped up will be reopened by perseverance in prayer. There will be a reopening of Jacob's well. There will be a reopening of "wellness", for divine healing streams will flow in many places where My people seek Me for healing and strength. There will be "wells" for the thirsty and Water for the weary. You, My People, shall provide watering holes and oasis' and rivers as you draw from Me, prophetic and healing rivers shall flow.

Laughter will be returned to you in this season. But not only laughter, but also weeping. For if you cannot laugh deeply, you cannot weep deeply over the sins of a nation, and the souls that are hanging in the balance. I will restore both laughter and tears, for cold and dead emotions will come to life again, under the Wind of My Spirit. Let me breathe upon you! Only My Breath can sustain you. Only My Breath can revive you. Only My Breath can call My Armies together.

Begin to burn the midnight "oil" again. Restore the night watches. Watchman, what of the night? Restore the seasons of corporate prayer. Rebuild the altars and call for the assemblies to pray. Individual prayer is not enough. Call for corporate prayer.

Redeem the time in 2007. Every moment counts. There is no time to waste. There is an acceleration, a hastening, a hurrying in the realm of the Spirit. Time must submit to the Church as she prays. As the Church prays, wasted time, and wasted years will be restored. I will give you 7 years harvest in 2007, 7 years harvest in 1 year, if you will seek Me in this hour. . For the Church who does not pray, time will be wasted and lost opportunities will be forever gone. This is the year to redeem the time. Do not take time lightly, for 2007 is a strategic time to regain what you have lost, rebuild what has been broken down, and restore what the canker worm, the locust, and the caterpillar has eaten. At the scent of water, new life will come, and the things that were cut off will sprout again.

Seven is the number of Divine Perfection and Divine Completion. Cycles will be ended in 2007, and new cycles will begin. Enter this new cycle, this new season with soberness, fasting, prayer, and surrender. To those who yield to Me in 2007, I will yield a seven year Harvest in one year.
